Mate Crime Workshop

Guidance Notes

Shaun's Story

The aim of the workshop is to get individuals and professionals thinking about friendships / relationships and when these may 'cross the line' and become Mate Crimes.

There may be a number of different views about what is going on in the film and people may wish to share personal experiences of events like this.

People should be allowed time to discuss and debate these issues. There may be no clear answers but those facilitating can add things that do 'cross the line' to make the incident a disability hate crime.

Questions such as:

- What if Shaun told them to leave and they didn't go?
- What if they told Shaun he had to pay for all the drinks?
- What if they told Shaun to steal the drinks for them?
- What if they took Shaun' TV/video/iPod with them?

The questions and guidance are to aid facilitators they are not a full list.

Session Outline

Watch the short clip and discuss the questions below.

1. What is happening in Shaun's flat?

| Good?                                                                                                                                     | Bad?                                                                                                                                               |
|-------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Shaun has friendsHe says he likes having them aroundHe is enjoying himselfHe is popular (with his friends at least) | People taking advantagePeople drinking – Shaun made to drinkPeople leaving a messPlaying loud musicUpsetting neighbours |

2. Do YOU think this is fair?

This will need to be discussed. People will have differing views on this. Interesting to see if staff / family views differ from others.

3. Are these people Shaun's friends?

We don't know for certain. They might be. They might be using him. They might want to be his friends. They are young males who base their friendships around drinking (not unusual). However they do appear to be using Shaun's flat and his good nature.

4. Is there a crime here?

| Yes                                                                                                                                            | No                                                                                                                                  |
|------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|-------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Shaun is not aware of the consequences.People are taking advantage of him. They are making him do something he doesn't want to do. | Shaun has the capacity to consent to people coming round. He is aware of the consequences.These people are his friends. |

5. Is it a Disability Hate Crime?

| Yes                                                                                                                                     | No                                                                                |

9. What could Shaun, his family and others have done before he moved out of the family home?

Independent living should not just focus on practical skills. Work on relationships and friendships needed. Here are some examples of what is going on across the country:

- Join Luv2MeetU – Stars in the Sky
- Join a self advocacy group.
- What it means to be a neighbour?
- 'Safe Places' work.
- Make contacts with the local community (church, voluntary groups, sports clubs, etc)
- Make contact with local police and community support (Ward Forums / PACT meetings / Neighbourhood Watch, etc).
